

About MWWA

The Massachusetts Water Works Association, Inc. (MWWA) was incorporated in 1950 when several water superintendents from central Massachusetts identified the need to form an organization where they could discuss current water works practices and exchange experiences. From its small group of pioneers, the organization has grown to over 1,500 water works professionals dedicated to providing Massachusetts consumers with a sufficient supply of high quality drinking water.

Since its inception, MWWA has worked to address the needs of its members. The association has evolved over the years and has taken a more active role in legislative and regulatory advocacy on behalf of water professionals statewide. Recent efforts include grassroots outreach to legislators, filing legislation, and testifying at legislative hearings on issues of importance to the water works industry. We regularly interact with state agencies on policy implementation and provide our expertise on a number of work groups and advisory committees.

MWWA is proud of its history and is committed to the future with Water Works Pride.
