

Environmental Analyst – Rule Specialist
Augusta, ME

NEIWPC, the Maine Department of Health and Human Services (ME DHHS), and Maine Center for Disease Control and Prevention (ME CDC) are seeking a full-time Environmental Analyst to determine public water system compliance with the state and federal safe drinking water regulations.

We're looking for an eager learner to become well-versed in drinking water rules and regulations and support compliance and enforcement efforts of the Drinking Water Program. Tasks will include:

- Review technical documents submitted by public water systems for accuracy and completeness.
- Review reports concerning results of water analyses and status of compliance with regulations.
- Determine drinking water quality monitoring and treatment requirements based on laboratory results.
- Evaluate treatment applications to ensure that proposed treatment meets minimum requirements. Determine sampling schedules based on the treatment design for inclusion in draft treatment approval letters.
- Train colleagues in the program on various requirements and protocols associated with drinking water regulations.
- Work with colleagues in the program on emerging contaminants issues and the development of outreach materials

Successful candidates will have a bachelor's degree in environmental science or a related field, and at least three years of related experience. We're seeking candidates with outstanding attention to detail and an ability to communicate with internal colleagues and external public water system operators. Excellent organization skills, strong computer capabilities, robust science and math knowledge, and a dedication to protecting public health are desired.

This is a full-time, in-office position based in the Maine CDC offices, located at State House Station 11, 286 Water St, Augusta, ME 04333. After six months of employment, this position may be eligible for a partial telework schedule, subject to approval and determined by program and office needs. A valid driver's license and access to own transportation required. COVID-19 vaccination required.

NEIWPC offers a competitive compensation package, including excellent comprehensive benefits for eligible employees.
